

Layne's glass is made by intricate layering of pre-made coloured canes around a molten form that is twisted and, when cold, cut into with a diamond wheel, to reveal vibrant colours beneath the surface.

Each piece of glass inspires a different response. Nicky uses texture and rivets to compliment the shape and details of the glass then accentuates the colours and patterns by blackening the sterling silver.